
Best-validation differences are descriptive; official test and confirmatory inference remain closed.